Glances Here and There.

"Will you be recommended or do you have to take the final" is the question of the hour with school boy and girl at this season. Those who are recommended move with a care free, jaunty air, while the unhappy little miscreant, whose record is doubtful enough to require a final examination before promotion, atones in these sultry days, which he spends "grinding" for all the bad half hours to which he has subjected his teacher during the term. One of the fortunate boys who from excellence in deportment and scholarship has a right to hope for promotion on recommendation is Master Joseph Johnson, son of George Ray Johnson, of Adelaidestreet. But a short time ago Josie was taken sick with rheumatism. Now, by the rules of the school board, a pupil in the High school, who wishes to retain his name on the rolls can only indulge in the luxury of being sick two days, and Josie was determined that the rheumatism should not make him lose the honors he had fought for during the term. So he devoted just two days to getting well on the third day and when his uncle, Dr. L. H. Johnson, made his morning visit he found his patient gone to school. He shook his head, looked grave as Doctors do when their advice is set at naught but so far the plucky little fellow has not suffered from his seeming indiscretion, and last week when the Glancer saw him limping across the pavement with his bag of papers to his bicycle and heard the story of his neryv contest with the rheumatism he felt like raising his hat to the brave little hero.

In the stuffy atmosphere of one of our churches last Sunday night five of the brethren, soothed by the pastor's eloquence, succumbed to Morpheus and sweetly slept during the service. The Glancer did not sleep because with him sleep is only possible when he can assume a recumbent attitude, so he moralized after this fashion: To those who believe that religion means sacrifice, and the most discomfort to which they subject themselves in the discharge of their religious duties, the more successfully they serve God, the confinement of four walls in a heated atmosphere, intensified by scores of burning gas jets, is probably an aid to grace, whether one sleeps during the services or not. The Glancer belongs to the unregenerate, who think on these rare June Sundays that praises to God will quite as effectually ascend from beneath a shady tree in God's first temples but he is a victim to popular opinion and his own, too pliant nature, so he repairs to church instead, where his devotion is sadly mixed, with envy of the drowsy brethren who can sweetly sleep the lagging hour away.

Not all the letters that go astray are to be accounted for by the negligence of male relatives. The Glancer rode down town one morning this week with a lady who carried in her hand a letter, which she informed the friend who accompanied her, she intended to mail herself because she was anxious for its safe transmission. At the corner of Woodward avenue and State street is one of the large boxes which postmaster Hance has introduced for newspapers and bundles. Leaving the car, she tripped the top to the box and looked in vain for the opening. After examining all four sides carefully she finally discovered in large letters on the front of the box, the words, "Lift the lid." She did so and complacently dropped the letter in, although immediately beneath the above sentence was written, in equally large letters, the words, "For papers and bundles, but not for letters." And if Uncle Sam does not follow the direction on her letter more carefully than she did those on his box, it is safe to predict that her's will prove another one of the letters "that never came."

TALK OF FAMINE.
 Fletcher, June 15. — We have had no rain to soften the ground since April, and the work of planting beans, which is generally a large crop here is progressing slowly though the season is about passed. The spring grain sown on spring plowing is perishing, the fields are quite bare and people talk of famine.

Rev. Binga, of Windsor, preached in the Baptist church at Buxton last Sunday and the church engaged him as pastor.

Mr. D. York, of Ypsilanti, was visiting Mr. J. Pierce last Sunday.

The Willing Workers of the First Baptist church at Buxton are preparing for a lawn social at the residence of Mrs. Archie Robbins. They have quiet an array of talent to be heard on the following subjects: "History of the Salvation Army"; "History of the Y. P. S. C. E."; "Sabbath School Work," and the "Civil Rights League."

Miss Hattie Rhue has returned from Hender son, Ky.

WORKING WORLD.

Logansport Ind., bakers no longer work at night or on Sunday.

The retail grocers of San Francisco will not use non-union boxes.

Some San Francisco coopers struck for the discharge of Chinese.

Richmond Ind., boiler makers struck against a calking machine.

Union sailors at San Francisco chased non-union hands on a ship.

Negroes have taken the places of striking miners at Franklin, Wash.

Columbia, S. C., ladies are signing a paper to not shop after 6 P. M.

The opening of its first factory will be celebrated by Punta Gorda, Fla.

A 105-year-old colored woman works in a Marshallville, Ga., cotton-field.

A locomotive on Depew's road is expected to make ninety miles an hour.

A St. Paul restaurant is being boycotted for employing non-union waiters.

Logansport, Ind., bricklayers won nine hours and 50 cents a day advance.

The San Francisco German painters' union will organize a singing club.

Hartford unions held an entertainment at which prominent men made addresses.

At co-operative bakeries in Ghent and Belgian cities the eight-hour day is the rule.

Indianapolis has a home where poor working girls can get cheap board and lodging.

Typographical Union, No. 6, of New York, is working for nine hours after October.

Crompton, R. I., weavers struck because each weaver was allowed three looms instead of four.

At Kokomo, Ind., most of the contractors have granted the teamsters $2.75 and the shovelers $1.50.

The laundry girls' union of Indianapolis is unionizing shops, and will publish the names of union firms.

Prisco molders, after fifteen months strike, claim they will win, as most of the work has to be sent east.

Locked-out cloth cap and hat workers of New York were awarded $1,300 one night last week by sympathizers.

The south will shortly supply the country's lumber demand. There are 3500 saw-mills running there already.

An electric swing suggested for the World's Fair will carry twenty-four people and swing a distance of 400 feet.

Minneapolis wood-carvers talk of protesting against the teaching of their trade in the state university and the high school.

A fine of $5 is imposed on members of the German bakers' union, of San Francisco, caught smoking Chinese or non-union cigars.

Two hundred years ago one man did two men's work with his hands, and he worked 13 or 14 hours a day. Now one man does a hundred men's work with a machine. Why should he not be let off with eight hours?—San Francisco Examiner.

Senator Ingalls: One man in this country, the Midas of the century, at whose touch everything turned to gold, has in a lifetime acquired, out of the aggregate of the nation's wealth, earned by the labor of all, a sum that exceeds the assessed value of four of the smaller states, and which is many times more than the entire wealth of the republic.

ART AND NATURE.

It has been found that a small dose of strong alcohol shortens the time that food remains in the stomach by more than half an hour.

The cooling of milk immediately after it is drawn from the cow is said to be of the greatest assistance in delaying fermentation and it is thought to be the most practical method which can now be recommended.

The wearing away of the cliffs on the shores of England has of late attracted considerable attention and the problem is being attentively studied with the view of preventing the erosive action of the waves as well as of the streams that trickle down.

One of the recent inventions for life-saving apparatus is the Irvine pneumatic gun for throwing a line to ships in distress or to persons in a burning house. The air is admitted from a reservoir to the chamber behind the projectile at a pressure of 2,400 pounds on the square inch.

M. Mascart, one of the most eminent French electricians of the time, says that the use of the magnetic needle in tracing the underground geology, or in other words, the past geography of a country, is one of those triumphs of science which are almost tantamount to divination.

Plans proposed for irrigation both in Upper and Lower Egypt during the period of low Nile include the building of a high barrage across the river at the first cataract. Great opposition has been excited against this proposition, as it involves the submersion of the beautiful island of Philae and its magnificent monuments for several months each year.

The most important improvements in practical medicine made in the United States of late years have been in surgery in its various branches. This country has led the way in the ligation of some of the larger arteries, in the removal of abdominal tumors in the treatment of diseases and injuries peculiar to women, and of spinal affections as well as deformities of various kinds. Above all, we were the first to show the use of anæsthetic—the most important advance made during the century.

ROMANCE AND SUPERSTITION.

Radnor, Pa., is troubled by the ghost of a bear.

A Shawnee county, Kan., girl was so anxious to marry that she eloped with a St. Louis man and took her grandmother with her.

When a young Chicago street car conductor suddenly sickened on his trip the other day, his sweetheart donned her cap and gloves and drove him to the hospital.

A Hebrew girl and a Chinaman were married in Chicago the other day. A feast was spread after the ceremony, in which Chinese and American dishes were equally divided.

FRIVOLITIES.

Boston Courier: Miss Urgent: "Do you know, pa, that I have about made up my mind to set my affections on Mr. Lordly?" Pa: "Have, eh? Well, I have made up my mind that as sure as you do that I will set 'Towser' on him."

Munsey's Weekly: The collegian: "Shall we be engaged again this summer or not?" The accommodating girl: "It's just as you say." The collegian: "Well, we might as well be engaged, then—but you won't expect another ring, will you?"

Brooklyn Life: Wool: "My cook left me to-day in spite of all I could do." Van Pelt: "What was the trouble?" Wool: "The children annoyed her. I offered to kill the children, but she was afraid the authorities would detain her as a witness."

New York Sun: "What is the matter?" asked Mrs. Mundy, poking her head out of her flat window and addressing the policeman. "Matter enough," said he. "A piece of your angel cake fell on a man's head and we're waiting for the ambulance."

Puck: Guildenstern Gotleft: "Hamlet's uncle must have proposed to Queen Gertrude several times before she accepted him." Rosencrantz Ricard: "How do you know?" Guildenstern Gotleft: "Because he speaks of her as 'our sometime sister, now our queen.'"

New York Weekly: Clara (haughtily): "I went to the theater every night last week, and had a different escort each time." Rival belle (vindictively): "You should be more cautious, my dear." "Cautious!" "Yes, my dear. Ill-natured people all over town are saying you can't get the same man to go with you twice."

Rochester Talisman: "Now, darling, will you grant me one favor before I go?" "Yes, George, I will," she said, dropping her eyelashes and getting her lips in shape. "What is the favor I can grant you?" "Only a little song at the piano, love. I am afraid there is a dog outside waiting for me and I want to scare him away."

Washington Star: "What did that new suit of yours cost?" Two hundred dollars. "Jerusalem, man! How did that happen?" "Easy enough. I paid $75 for the suit originally, and it looked so well that my wife wouldn't let me rest until I had put up $125 more for an outfit for her to match it. Buy cheap clothes, old fellow, buy cheap clothes."

Washington Post: "I want to ask you something," he said, with a look of much anxiety on his face. "Yes," she replied, as a sudden smile illuminated her countenance. "I know what I am going to say may sound a little silly—" "I don't think it will, George." "Well, your father—" "He likes you very much, George." "Does he? Well, when he came home to-day did he happen to tell what the score was? I came down in such a hurry that I didn't have time to look at a paper."

HUMEROUS.

In Church.—Ethel—"How harmonious the color of everything is." Margaret—"Yes, excepting the sexton. Why doesn't he wear stained glasses?"—Brooklyn Life.

Warranted Sound and Gentle.—Dobson (examining it)—"Are you sure this cigar is mild?" Intellectual dealer—"Perfectly docile, I assure you."—New York Telegram.

She—"How much do you love me?" He—"More than I can tell. Why, I couldn't love you any more if every one of these freckles were a $20 gold piece."—Indianapolis Journal.

"Did your audience appear to be moved?" asked the young actor's friend. "Yes," was the reply. "Clear out of the theater before the first act was over."—Washington Post.

Senator Stanford is going into the manufacture of champagne extensively. He evidently means to afford opportunity for every young man in this country to get a head.—Boston Post.

Tenderfoot, who has just purchased a horse—"Is it the custom here in the West to throw in a halter when a man takes a horse?" Old Resident—"Well, it depends on how he takes him."—Life.

Mistress (trying on one of her new gowns)—"Nora, how does this dress fit?" Nora (without looking up)—"Not very well, mem. I found it a little tight under me arrounds."—Chicago Tribune.

She—"Oh, yes, we have a national hymn, too." He—"Ah, yes, it ees a beautiful thing. I haf heard it so often. My bonnet lies of er zee ocean, or vere did you get zat hat."—Harvard Lampoon.

School Teacher—"Johnny, you may tell me what success means." Johnny—"The prosperous termination of anything attempted." School Teacher—"Now, Bobby, what is a failure?" Bobby—"Ma says pa is."—Judge.

"Did you ever read that new production, 'Lines on the Hudson River Scenery?'" Inquired the literary young woman. "Ah," replied the youth. "I know what you mean. Them's railroad tracks."—Boston Post.

NOTES AND NOTIONS.

A deaf and dumb book agent is the latest novelty in New York.

The Stanford university in California announces that tuition will be free.

The heaviest forest fires in Michigan and Wisconsin have occurred in 1871, 1881 and 1891.

A New York hotel about to be built will have 600 living rooms and 265 bath rooms. It will be big enough to take the head of the list of mammoth hotels and will cost a round $3,000,000.

One of the youngest of railroad presidents is Col. T. F. Oakes, who is at the head of the Northern Pacific system. He is forty years old and began his railroad experience as a rodman.

Mr. Deaby, United States minister to China, has provided for the sending of tea seed to the Los Angeles chamber of commerce. The seed is of a fine quality, that place being determined upon.

Bananas are best when quite as much in gastronomic order now as oranges ever were since the published article which claimed for them so many health-giving quantities and beneficial virtues.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

Rev. Sam Jones, in an interview, estimates the number of conversions under his preaching at 150,000 to 200,000.

The drive of Arville's youngest daughter will marry a Lancashire cotton spinner named Emmott, a quaker and wealthy.

The empress of Austria is as busy as a school girl with her linguist studies and as interested as a land reformer in her agricultural projects.

Senator Blackburn's daughters are ardent admirers of thoroughbred horses. They are always to be seen at the Lexington races, and are thoroughly accomplished in equine lore.

The present czarina of Russia is said to be the most popular empress the nation ever had. She is loved for her charities, and is as bright and clever as she is elegant. She is passionately fond of dancing.

George W. Childs has presented to the regents of Mount Vernon the proof-sheets of the American Daily Advertiser, dated Sept. 15, 1798, containing the farewell address of Washington, corrected by himself.

THE LITTLE ONES

Ought to be considered. In the mysterious processes of nature, which are generalized in the term "growth," there is sometimes a demand on one part of the system at the expense of another. Some of the complications are beyond the reach of diagnostic observation. It is here that makes itself felt. Rev. L. B. Paine, of Macon, Ga., writes: "We have been using at the Orphan's Home as a remedy for blood complaints and as a general tonic, and have had remarkable results from its use with the children. It is such an excellent tonic and keeps the blood so pure that the system is less liable to disease. It has cured some of our children of scrofula."
