JON HORST is in his fifth season as general manager of the Milwaukee Bucks.

In his tenure as GM, Horst has restructured operations by reimagining the roles, responsibilities and processes of the front office staff, along with executing key roster decisions that helped the team secure the 2021 NBA Championship.

In 2018, Horst oversaw the hiring process of current head coach, Mike Budenholzer, who was named 2018-19 NBA Coach of the Year and has led the Bucks to owning the best overall record and most playoff wins in the NBA throughout the past three seasons. Horst has also upgraded the team's roster through in-season and off-season trades, free agent signings, draft selections and by signing multi-year extensions for crucial players.

Following the 2018-19 season wherein the Bucks went 60-22 and advanced to the Eastern Conference Finals for the first time since 2001, Horst won NBA Executive of the Year. He is only the second general manager in franchise history to win the award.

Horst's early career success has been recognized on both international and local levels. In 2020, he was selected to the Leaders™ “Leaders Under 40” class, which identifies and recognizes exceptional individuals who are moving the sports industry forward. In 2019, he was named to the Milwaukee Business Journal's “40 Under 40” class.

Prior to becoming general manager in 2017, Horst served as the team's Director of Basketball Operations. He began his NBA front office career with the Detroit Pistons before going to Milwaukee in 2008.

Horst graduated from Rochester University in 2006 with a degree in sports management. He and his wife, Mia (Dinnan '05), have two children, Sophie and Zeke.
