UNIQUE — This Preacher Training Program permits the student to support himself at secular work up to 40 hours per week. Because of this, the entire program takes three years instead of the usual two years currently standard with most Schools of Preaching.

TUITION FREE — The Ypsilanti School of Preaching is a local congregation at work and therefore no tuition is charged. However the student must expect to invest a great amount of time and effort to complete the program. Each student is expected to furnish his own text books, classroom supplies, and build a comprehensive personal religious library during his training period.

HIGHLIGHTS — Every effort will be made to help students locate housing and work. During his stay, his membership will be with the Ypsilanti Church of Christ and the student will work and worship under the oversight of the eldership. A student will be expected in addition to regular classroom work, to participate in the regular Cottage Class Program. There are seven instructors presently connected with the school. Students may enter at the beginning of any quarter.
