

HL CAMPUS MOTIONS JUNE, 2010

It was moved that for the purpose of the schedule of classes, the term “distance learning” include online courses as 100% online, hybrid courses as those in which some contact hours are face-to-face and some online, as defined specifically by course notes for each section, and television courses. Some face-to-face courses maybe augmented by online components which will be noted in the schedule of classes.

It was moved that we postpone discussion of the online learning mission statement until academic senate determines whether or not to recommend an online degree to the administration.
