DALNET PROJECT MANAGERS MEETING

December 8, 1995

Bill Easton, Ameritech Library Services, conducted an all-day demonstration of their library automation products for 29 DALNET project managers and other key staff. This program was one of DALNET's education sessions being held in 1995/96 to update project managers on the latest developments in library technology.

In the morning, these "migration" products were presented after an overview of Ameritech's overall development direction:

> WinPAC
> WebPAC
> NetPublisher

In the afternoon, Bill did an overview of the Horizon client-server system. It is already in use by numerous libraries, however, the functionality needed by large academic libraries is being developed intensively over the next year with Indiana University and the University of Chicago. Modules demonstrated included:

> Staff PAC
> Cataloging/Authority
> Circulation
> Serials

The next session is scheduled for Monday, January 8, from 1:00 to 4:30 p.m. Our guests will be Kathy Kie and a couple of her colleagues from OCLC. Place to be announced.
