Computer, Word Processing, Accounting, General Business degrees to begin this fall

Students desiring to receive an occupational degree which prepares them for immediate employment after two years of college will have four new options available to them at Michigan Christian College this fall. Based upon strong student interest, the college will begin offering Associate in Applied Science degrees in Computer Science Information Systems, Word Processing, Accounting, and General Business.

The Computer Science program will include seven specialized computer courses as well as a core of selected business courses. The target job market for students trained in this program will be retail businesses, governmental agencies, insurance companies, banks, manufacturing firms, and data processing offices which need someone who understands the business applications of computer programming. A new computer lab, which will tie in to the college's powerful Wang VS-80 system, will be installed this summer.

Word Processing majors will receive eleven credit hours of specialized training on state-of-the-art word processing equipment in addition to a strong base of secretarial and business courses. Modernization and strengthening of MCC's current secretarial degrees will also be made possible by the addition of this program.

Students pursuing the Accounting option will be preparing for positions in the accounting departments of small businesses and for support positions in larger firms in both financial and manufacturing accounting. The program includes financial, as well as cost and tax accounting.

The General Business program will feature a broad curriculum of business courses which will provide the student with an edge on the job market in business firms. It will also provide valuable background for those desiring to manage a family business.

Although many of the new courses being added to the MCC curriculum are designed for the Applied Science degrees, students pursuing four-year degrees will also benefit from the larger selection of courses. Further information about any of the new programs may be obtained from the Admissions Office.

At a Glance

Ten choruses from seven colleges gathered in Henderson, Tennessee on January 14-15 for the annual Christian College Choral Festival. En route to the festival, the MCC chorus appeared in Ohio, Kentucky, and Tennessee. Their tour also included visits to Cumberland Falls, and Nashville's Hermitage, Parthenon, and Country Music Hall of Fame.

Students pursuing degrees in nursing and medical fields recently began the Pre-Medical Association on campus. This organization plans to make field trips, host guest speakers, and sponsor campus CPR classes.

Phone-A-Visit passed its goal of $225,000 with the assistance of fifty MCC students. Seven will receive a dinner for two at the top of Detroit's Renaissance Center for raising over $1,000 on five or more nights.

Most students still receive assistance with college costs

Despite misconceptions about the effect of federal and state budget cuts upon financial aid, most students continue to receive help with college expenses. Figures released by Kent Hoggatt, MCC Director of Financial Aid, reveal that $906,451 in financial aid has been awarded to MCC students for the 1982-83 academic year.

The average financial aid package for full-time students is over $3,000. This average covers over two-thirds of the expenses for a full-time boarding student. However, those meeting early aid application deadlines are receiving both the largest and the best aid packages, consisting of larger proportions of grant aid.

Students interested in receiving financial aid for the 1983-84 academic year are encouraged to apply for aid immediately. More information about financial aid programs and application forms may be obtained by calling (313) 651-5800.
